A electronic go- kart is a type of open-wheel car which comes in all shapes and forms. So when riding the Go kart one has to constantly think of being both efficient and maintain speed. Let's be honest driving kart makes you feel like you're Ayrton Senna or Lewis hamilton vrooming away on the race tracks. The thrill of racing is always there and corresponding that feeling with a company goal and hitting your mark, will be the best feeling there is.

ARCHERY GAME

In the ancient days using a bow and arrow only happened in hunting or just catching a game, ancient gods such as Apollo depicted the symbol arrow that showed a higher spiritual and philosophy in life. Now we use archery as a sport or a recreational purpose that makes it enjoyable.

Archery shows a strong value for communication in symbolising the ways that are used to reach an objective with the greatest speed, accuracy and focus. Concentration associated with willpower to hit the target makes archery similar not just with an individual activity but also integrates teamwork.

HORSE RIDING

We all know how emotional intelligence is important to many of us , it allows us to deeply understand and manage our emotions to self-motivate and create positive social interactions with our surroundings.

it's really the first step to know one's true potential. Turing your emotional intelligence into horse riding is basically knowing how to approach the majestic animal by first breaking that fear which doesn't want you to hop on and gallop away, you will be able to understand how your mind , heart and intuition go hand to hand when riding a horse.

YOGA

We all want to maintain our wellness intact and become progressive physically, mentally, and in our social settings as well. Yoga has been practiced for thousands of years going back to ancient india. Companies have incorporated yoga that helps in relieving stress and maintains their working harmony. Regular yoga practice gives clarity to one's mind , calmness to the soul and releases the potential of what our body can be capable of.

WALL CLIMBING

Not that long ago, most people took their first climbing steps on real rock, but these days it's much more likely to be on an indoor wall. Wall Climbing is an enjoyable recreational activity that has the basics movement foundation with grip of hands and legs, making the climber able to get to the highest peak and say "I reached the top". The take away from wall climbing teaches us to have the self motivation and patience to keep moving forward while having blisters on our hands or when we just feel like giving up. In the corporate world it's a general rule to always see the light under the tunnel when defiance rises, because It always seems impossible until it's done.

ZIPLINE RIDING

There's nothing more fun than doing a zipline for the first time or tenth time. Something about that moment where you put on your helmet, get harnessed to your trolley and in that last few seconds after working up the courage, you take a deep breath, grip the handles, and leap from the platform and Zzzzzzhhhhhhhhhh you're on your way.

In any form of innovation, business venture or looking for solutions, risk taking helps us evolve in our life spectrums. With a leap of faith you will achieve the very impossible.

Leadership gives us the ability to guide others without force into a direction that leaves them still feeling empowered and accomplished. A rope course is a team based activity whereby two counter teams go up and down hanging on a rope. The lower part might be touching the ground while the highest on trees or poles. It's a great team bonding activity that makes you want to take charge and lead your team mates to the finish line.
